*["Guano" in this case was fish fertilizer. According to the business letterhead of William H. Wells of Southold, in the 1850's and early 1860's he was the "Sole Agent for L. I. for the sale of FISH GUANO, manufactured at the Long Island Fish Guano and Oil Works." Wells also handled tailoring, ready-made clothing, potato diggers, corn shellers, glass, groceries, drugs, lamps, "segars" and other necessities. By 1 November 1864 his business was in the hands of "Assignees" who were Albert Albertson, William Y. Fithian and J. H. Goldsmith.

Another supplier of guano was the "Oceanic Oil and Guano Co." which had an office in Southold. One of the bills of this company is dated December 17, 1861. (Information from original bills owned by Mrs. Floyd D. Houston.)

After 1864 bird guano was brought by sloop from Peru to the Jamesport dock by Capt. Benjamin T. Griffin on order of the members of Riverhead Town Agricultural Society. In 1871 the Society purchased $10,000.00 worth of this guano through Capt. Griffin. (From article in "The County Review" 16 March 1939.)

*[12/ = 12 shillings. The shilling was valued at 12½ cents. It may seem remarkable that this old monetary system had not died out by this date. However, in some parts of the United States vestiges of it continued into the twentieth century. Mrs. Lynwood G. Downs informs the Editor that the term "shilling" was still used in everyday speech in parts of Minnesota early in the twentieth century. Of course no "shilling" coin existed, but if two articles in a store cost twenty-five cents, one article might be said to cost a "shilling."]
